

The diagram shows a truss structure with a horizontal base and a triangular top. The base is labeled with a dimension of 6800. The height of the truss is labeled with a dimension of 1752. A force F_3 is applied at the top vertex of the truss. The truss is composed of several members, including a central vertical member and several diagonal members. The structure is supported by a horizontal base.

